

Disclaimer: Less than Recommended Training Time

This document acknowledges that the client releases Retail Information Systems (RIS) from any and all liability relating to damages to any computer hardware or peripherals, damage or loss of data, loss of sales, loss of revenue, loss of productivity, perceived system performance or expenses related to system recovery; due to my choosing NOT to purchase and/or participate in the minimum recommended training time of 20 hours.

By signing below I acknowledge and understand that;

1. Choosing NOT to receive 20 hours minimum training as recommended by RIS WILL result in problems, errors, and damages that are preventable by receiving at least 20 hours of training on the POS System. _____ Initials

2. By declining to receive 20 hours minimum training, I may and probably will experience deep frustration as I attempt to learn the POS System through self-education. _____ Initials

3. Support Contracts do NOT provide for training. All questions of "How do I?" will be billed to me "as training", separate and exclusive of any support contract I may have purchased. _____ Initials

4. Proper formal training from an experienced RIS Trainer will decrease user errors and enhance my ability to get the most value/performance from my new POS System. _____ Initials

5. I have been advised by RIS that I need at least 20 hours of training from the RIS Trainer to properly use my POS System. _____ Initials

6. I am declaring that I am declining the 20 hours of minimum training time and that I fully understand the consequences. And, that I/We will not hold RIS liable for any problems or damages real or perceived arising from my/our decision. _____ Initials
