

Disclaimer for Bridge Tool / XML or v9 Import/Export Tool

This disclaimer releases RIS from any liability concerning any problems you may encounter with your Retail Pro data from clients own use of any tool of this type.

The Bridge / Import / Export Tools are a technician's tool to access, import / export data to Retail Pro. This tool is strictly used only by Certified Retail Pro Technicians who have experience and knowledge of Retail Pros database intricacies and/or SQL requirements.

If you (the client) are insistent on utilizing any import / export tool yourself without taking advantage of RIS technical services please be aware that in some cases irreversible problems may arise that are preventable by our experienced certified technicians.

I have been advised to use RIS technical services for import/export tool.

_____ Initials

I have declined RIS technical services. I understand and agree to use any import / export tool at mine or my companies own risk and will not hold RIS responsible for any problems, real or perceived, arising from bridging data into my Retail Pro system with this tool.
